Chelan County Superior
VS.
Ryan Hell

I am looking for a place to make a serious ethics complaint regarding an obvious and brazen violation of a myriad of court ethics which have occurred and continue to occur in Chelan County, Washington state.

On July 3-4, 2024, I was traveling with a passenger in a very remote desert canyon outside of Wenatchee Washington.

My vehicle became disabled on this primitive park road and after exhaustive efforts to self rescue and get back to cell phone service so I could call for help from friends; I was faced with the dilemma that we were not going to make it off the mountain without help. My passenger's medical situation was quickly deteriorating since she was not carrying her insulin this day, and had been without food and water in the near 100 degree direct sunlight.

In summary, 911 was called and they refused to provide rescue and claimed the best they could do is have a city manager pick us up in their personal vehicle and take us to their personal home where they would have an ambulance waiting to treat my passenger.

We were picked up then driven to an even more remote location outside of cell service also (aside from 911 service).

This location seemed odd and it was not in reasonable direction of the hospital nor was it towards town.

Upon getting us to their home, the two people who picked us up identified themselves as off duty dispatchers and said they work at the same call center (Rivercom 911 in Wenatchee), which I had called via 911 for help.

There was a woman present who I later recognized as the stenographer in the Chelan County Court. I believe her name is Barbera but I have been unable to identify her and my lawyers have refused to make note of this issue as well. She was introduced to me at the scene as the dispatchers mother.

My passenger was never treated and no personnel or person took any vitals nor did they ask her for a list of conditions, complications, or concerns. They handed her a bottle of water then promptly ordered me to accompany the male dispatcher outside.

Upon exiting the garage where they had taken us to, there was a man driving my truck with the extra key I kept hidden in case of emergency. The dispatcher introduced this man as his friend then said he was a tow operator, and I needed to settle up on his bill.

A dispute of mild calibre started and I calmly reminded the tow truck operator that any work or tow of my vehicle has been done without my authorization and him driving my vehicle without my consent, could be construed as auto theft. I asked what he wanted to do and he angrily threw my key to the male dispatcher and said he was not interested in it anymore.

Dispatchers now circled me with 3 others and they continued to berate me and demand money for saving my passenger's life.

In the recently surrendered evidence video the female dispatcher is heard demanding 1000 cash payment for their life saving services, as my passenger would have been dead if it weren't for them.

During the altercation, the female dispatcher began to hurl insults at me, as did the others.

She struck me in the head after I plead for them to have mercy and get my passenger help. She ran to me then struck me in the face, and I never raised a hand to block it or to hit her back, as I was convinced they were attempting to create a "self defense" or "justifiable homicide" scenario. They stood there while she hit me then laughed.

This entire time my passenger was inside the shop / garage approximately 50 meters away. I begged them to let us go, pleaded not to hurt her. They laughed and demanded I leave without my passenger.

I refused to leave because I had a strong suspicion that they would do her harm then blame me; in some twisted form of witness elimination.

Towards the end of the ordeal; a man yelled "get out of here! The police will be here soon!". I then heard an unknown female's voice from the other side of the driveway, yell "where is Ryan? I can't let Ryan see me!". The man yelled "you have to go now, they are almost here!". The woman then replied "where is he, I don't know where he is?!" And the man yelled again "just go!".

As I ran toward that commotion I was instantly aware that something was going on, there were bad actors here trying to do me harm, and someone here knows me personally. So I ran with my phone in hand ready to take capture that evidence and ask the person to stop who was obviously engaged in a number of very alarming behaviors and conduct all serious crimes.

I encountered a new red / burgundy Toyota 4x4 truck, and a woman driving who was startled to see my face. She tried to go around me by driving off of the drive way then floored it and I very narrowly escaped being run down.

Arresting officers from Chelan County Sheriff and Wildlife department arrived mere moments later. They performed a bizarre and extremely dangerous stop by pulling up then ordering me to move away. From the front (dash cam I presume), to an area off field of vision. My hands were high and I immediately declared in a calm voice that I am non-combative, and will comply. I let them know I am peaceful. They told me shut the fuck up and made repeated threats to shoot me. One officer declared that he seen a firearm in my right hand and they were a mere 20 feet away, broad daylight and no shadows or obstructions.

I plead with them that I did not have a weapon and the sergeant again threatened to shoot me if I said one more word. The sergeant and the other sheriff deputy began to verbally discuss taking their shot. I am not talking. I am complying, hands empty and in the air doing as instructed.

I was ordered to back up slow by one officer. As soon as I complied the sergeant began screaming and said the next time I move he will "blow your fucking head off". The deputy then yelled to me to cross my ankles and as I complied the other sergeant screamed that he was now shooting me.

And they commenced to giving each other a count down to taking the shot at me. In response to the hysterics, panic, and likely the dehydration and heat stroke from having worked brutally hard trying to dig my truck out for 20 MILES in direct sunlight.... My body had an uncontrollable and violent spasm and I slammed without warning into the dirt with force and faster than I could brace myself.

I was arrested and arraigned on 3 counts of felony harassment for some type of threats to use firearms they claimed.

In my police report the dispatcher is on the phone with his dispatcher agency and they say “a sheriff is coming to arrest Ryan and take him away”. The male dispatcher who picked us up then replied, according to evidence (log) “he doesn’t need to just get arrested. He needs to disappear for good”.

In court I was released and appointed a PD. That first public defender resigned off my case citing a conflict of interest; but quietly told me this case is very serious and involves powerful people who are in a lot of trouble.

The next court appointed lawyer was Justin Titus from Titus Law. I spoke in court briefly at side; and urged him to let me know if this case was too sticky for him. I expressed serious concerns for the integrity of evidence and the timeliness we obtain it due to its exculpatory nature and the unusual and murky circumstances of the case.

PD Justin Titus then went on to refuse to answer my emails or calls, additionally he completely boycotted any involvement as counsel in the case. I was denied timely access evidence and zI was even denied any status to why that delay exists or what evidence there may be.

I was issued a warrant after failure to obtain my court date and I promptly traveled to Wenatchee to turn myself in. I politely raised my concerns regarding counsel and was granted a new PD after Justin Titus told the judge he wanted to part ways with me as a client.

The new lawyer appointed, again by Chelan Superior court, is Sean Esworthy from Kottkamp, Yedinak & Esworthy, P.L.L.C, and he is a young DUI attorney but seems to be communicating sufficiently with me. He called me to come view video evidence and I again traveled to Wenatchee to visit his office. Upon viewing evidence I was floored by the egregious conduct and brazen disregard for law, duty and human life exhibited by these people on video. The video supports the narrative summary above and it fails however; to show me threaten anyone other than to put my hands ip and plead with them to not strike me again in the face anymore.

The most perplexing part of this entire case for me personally; was the involvement and clear intent of sherifs arresting me. And more disturbing yet, their dash cam footage was heavily ALTERED and I can point out discrepancies which support this claim.

Additionally the dispatchers dispute and abuse portion has also been altered and there are significant and easy to identify discrepancies and artifacts which are telltale signs of tampering.

My PD, Sean Esworthy has secured approval for a forensics professional who specializes in video.. and I assume I must wait and have faith that both Sean Esworthy and the forensics video expert are acting ethically and with my best interest, which would be; to pursue exoneration for myself by uncovering their wrong doings and exposing their claim as a false pretense for arrest.

What Else Can I Do?

Who Can I Report These Crimes To?
